

Can I use Plays-in-Motion for Scouting?

"We use PiM for our play book and scouting. The clarity and conciseness of the program is a tremendous benefit for our players and coaches."

J Quattrocchi
Head Men's Basketball Coach
Skidmore College

What if I don't have time to read a manual?

Who does? Our multimedia tutorial system teaches you with narrated, on-screen videos. (program booklet and Help File included)

Does the animation really make a difference?

"Incredible. Once you've seen Plays-in-Motion animate, it's game; set; and match. Nothing beats its ability to teach execution and timing. It's surprisingly easy to use and it publishes too. We love it!"

R. Johnson
Athletic Director
Wofford College

"Computer animation is a marvelous way to teach team sport athletics. I'm excited at the prospects of using Plays-in-Motion to teach football to today's kids via a medium with which they have become very comfortable."

B. Steurwald
Head Football Coach
Shenendehowa HS, Clifton Park, NY
1995 NY State Public HS Class 'A' Finalist
1995 National HS Football Coach of the Year
(As selected by the National HS Athletic Coaches Assn.)

Is it just another drawing program?

No. PiM automatically generates the players, the playing area, and tracking lines according to the preferences you specify. Of course, you can edit any part of the play as well as "flipping" the direction of motion or the changing the camera angle. You control everything!

Can we teach methodology with PiM?

"The program has reinvented the way we implement our myriad of offensive and defensive systems...it allows our coaching staff to show our players important nuances of a drill that can't be explained.

When used in combination with Power Point, PiM is an extremely effective way to illustrate playing tendencies of our opponents. Coaches can use this program to animate attacking routes, serve receive formations, the timing of combination plays, blocking schemes, and defensive formations and responsibility."

Chuck Erbe
Head Coach
Women's Volleyball
Michigan State University

Can't I just print a play book?

Sure, you don't have to plan animation if all you want to do is print. You still have all the tools you'll need!

...Frequently Asked Questions

...It's Plays-in-Motion